TAKEN FOR THIEVES

Three Men Released From Cortlandt Street Building by Firemen.

Commuters on their way to Cortlandt Street last night saw three men in the ground floor hallway of No. 43 Cortlandt Street trying to open a trunk. Mistaking them for burglars, some called Old Slip Station. Lieut. Anderson sent Patrolman Ross. The men shouted they were locked in and Ross notified Engine Company 24 on Liberty Street. Firemen with ladders opened the transom and released the men. They gave their names as Jacob Horowitz, No. 242 Monroe Street; Abraham Kilgus, No. 227 Cherry Street; and Joseph Cohen, No. 246 Monroe Street.

GIGANTIC STILL SEIZED.

Cost $25,000 to Build, and Dynamite May Be Needed to Destroy It.

CHICAGO, July 1.—A giant still, which police said cost at least $25,000 to build and so large that it may be necessary to dynamite the house in which it is located to destroy it, was guarded here to-day by police and Federal authorities. The still has vats in the basement of the house that measure 14 by 18 feet and are 6 feet deep, while the coils ran through the entire house. Wines, alcohol, mash and "moonshine" worth many thousands of dollars found in the house were destroyed. No one was found in the house.
